Attorney General John Ashcroft
US Department of Justice
950 Pennsylvania Avenue, NW
Washington, DC 20530

Dear Mr. Ashcroft:

I am a retired member of the tech industry who is fed up with the Microsoft antitrust case. The federal government needs to leave Bill Gates and his company alone. Government intervention in this matter is no longer necessary.

With regard to the settlement, Bill Gates has conceded more than he had to. One example is the three person technical committee that will consist of three software engineering experts. Now, at any time, a third entity can dispute any portion of the settlement if it feels like Microsoft is not cooperating.

Bill Gates was being more than fair with this settlement. Now, it is the government's job to stay out of it. The country needs, now more than ever, to produce new and different types of technology, for the sake of our falling economy.

Sincerely,

Rocco Caffarella
